

2026 NC Railway Museum (NCRM) Sponsorship Package

Your Financial Sponsorship in 2026 accelerates the North Carolina Railway Museum, Inc. in its creation of sixty-five new STEM Education exhibits – and that is only the beginning...

Your gift is doubled today, thanks to two IMLS¹ museum grants received toward the design and creation of new interactive and self-directed learning exhibits for visitors of all ages and abilities. Between now and October 2028, NCRM is quadrupling its museum’s exhibit space - opening for the first time, seven (7) pieces of heritage railroad equipment and the relocated 1884 Goldston Railroad Freight Depot. But this cannot happen without you, and funding for moving this work forward is needed now. The North Carolina Railway Museum (NCRM) must secure $70,000 in new sponsorship each year for the next three years to complete this ambitious expansion. Your gift allows us to open the minds of countless young people toward discovering elements of science, math and engineering within the technological heritage of our nation’s railroads - launching them into their own dreams of future travel. This is STEM education at its finest. More than that, every dollar of your sponsorship to this museum adds $2.20 of economic impact to the economy of the Triangle Region.² In 2025, with nearly 18,000 visitors, NCRM contributed more than $1.2 million to our local communities. Your gift grows that impact.

NASA Mag-Lev Railway Concept RLS02)

Creative learning from toy trains is a natural and often subconscious way for children to engage with their environment as a magical power links the tiny cars together in trains being pulled along the wooden tracks. In what seems the blink of an eye, we watch with calculators as they apply mathematics in predicting the outcome of experiments. Soon, we will all see together the NASA’s concept of a Mag-Lev Railway System on the Moon (RLS02) for transporting mining materials. Learning grows out of human discovery, and it is that American spirit which is represented in our railroads. STEM is not only found in things of the past but continues to light the imaginations of our visitors toward new discoveries - sending humans back to the moon and beyond and improving our day-to-day lives. Put your power behind these new educational exhibits at NCRM and with it, the inspiration of a future generation, today.
